

Dear Sirs:

I am a subscriber to XM Radio. I have two subscriptions, one for my regular vehicle and one for an RV.

I made a personal decision to pay for my radio listening. This money comes out of my own pocket. The fact that XM Radio offers content that is appealing enough for me to pay for, should tell you something about why I would prefer not to listen to all the commercials that I am bombarded with on free air radio.

If I have made this decision to pay for my radio subscription, wouldn't a reasonable person or entity understand that I should be able to pick out what I want to listen to.

Don't over regulate this great service. It would be like you going to McDonald's and forcing you to eat the Big Mac when you would rather have a Chicken McNuggets. After all, when you are paying the bill, you should get what you want.

Sincerely,

Dave DeLeuil
